

FLY FISHING AND LEADERSHIP: LESSONS FROM THE STREAM

A Unique Book Club for Leaders and Fly Fishers

Wednesdays, Jan 26, Feb 9, Feb 23,
March 9, 2022 6:00 – 7:30 pm CST via Zoom

Free Registration Limited Enrollment

TRANSFORM YOUR LEADERSHIP

- Sharpen your leadership skills and style through the lens of fly fishing and its treasured literature.
- Learn and apply lessons from the stream and the natural world to help inspire others, guide organizations, and understand yourself.
- Explore and apply principles from fly fishing, leadership, and psychology to illuminate the place where authentic leadership begins—within.
- Improve skills in problem solving, communication, curiosity, resilience, conflict management, agility, creativity, and mindfulness.
- Collaborate with like-minded professionals and anglers about leadership and organizational challenges.

YOUR GUIDES

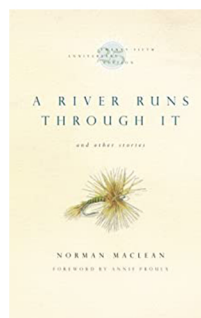

Steve Ehrlich, lifelong educator and angler, 35 years in continuing education and professional development. Retired teacher and dean, Washington University in St. Louis.

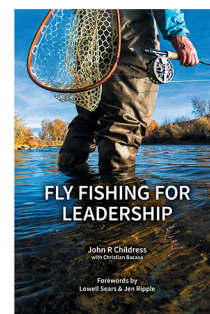

Steve Lawler, organizational psychologist, founding director of the Walker Leadership Institute at Eden Seminary, St. Louis. Clients include Four Seasons Hotels, Ryobi, and Ascension Health.

BOOKS

A River Runs Through It

Fly Fishing for Leadership

REGISTRATION AND INQUIRIES

steveehrich76@gmail.com
(314) 827-7204

lisa.schlueter@westoverfarms.com
(573) 743-6284

No registration fee, limited enrollment. Virtual program using Zoom.

Sponsored by Westover Farms, Missouri's Premier Fly Fishing Destination